Elderly Face Eviction From Farm

DEVELOPER SEeks Apartheid-Style REMOVAL

Two elderly people face the possibility of eviction from the land upon which they have lived for years. The developer seeks to remove the property from their hands to construct a new development. The eviction is seen as a form of apartheid-style removal, as similar tactics were used in the past.